

Bruce Tracy
English Teacher
Yearbook Advisor
Honor Society Sponsor
Webpage Coordinator

Arroyo Seco Junior High School

Edit Help for My Access

When a paper has been submitted for a grade, the computer will provide a bar chart with feedback on the paper. The holistic grade is the score that will be used to determine the final grade on this project. To see what grade the holistic score will translate to, click on the link on the “writing projects” page at www.mrtracy.com.

To improve the grade, students will need to go back into their paper under the assignments link. Once the paper is opened again, the student can click on the “my editor” link and that will show the grammar and spelling errors. Correcting these mistakes will not significantly improve the overall holistic grade.

The “My Tutor” link will provide some key structural advice to help improve the writing of this project. Be sure to read the suggestions made once this link is clicked and use this advice to guide you as you rewrite your papers. Fixing these problems will have a major effect on your overall holistic score.

Editing a writing project is a lot more than just correcting spelling and grammar errors. It requires you to look at where your paper is weak. You may need to rewrite significant portions of your paper to make the changes that are needed.

Helpful Tips:

- ✓ A common comment that you will see in the “my editor” section is that you have a clause error. If you see this error, rewrite your sentence in a new way that makes more sense. The computer is telling you that the structure of your sentence is wrong.
- ✓ The computer might think that a correctly spelled word is spelled wrong. This happens often with people’s names. Don’t worry about these because they will not have an effect on your holistic grade.